OCTOBER 28 - 31

WASHINGTON DC

MPLS2007.COM

The MPLS 2007 conference will be held on October 28th – 31st in Washington, D.C. at the Omni Shoreham Hotel. MPLS is Isocore’s annual conference that invites leaders in the industry to meet and exchange ideas.

Since the first conference in 1998, the MPLS conference has been the premier event on the subject of MPLS, Carrier and Metro Ethernet, IP-Optical Networks, Converged Services delivery and emerging Internet technologies.

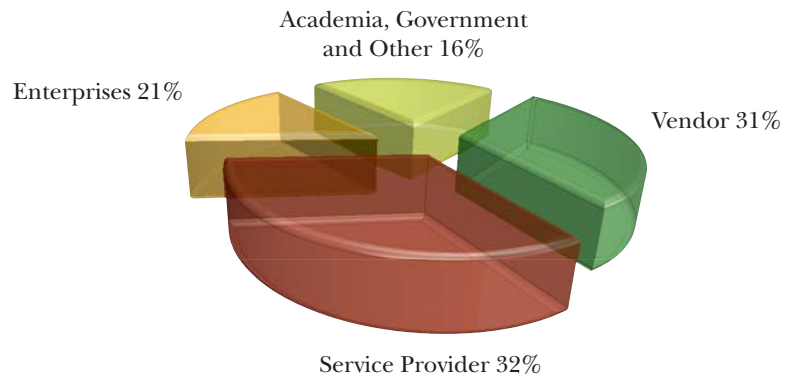

What to Expect at MPLS 2007

The MPLS conference brings service providers, large enterprise and government network community, and networking equipment vendors together. MPLS 2007 will include an extensive four day program that will consist of tutorials, technical sessions, panels, and exhibits. Other topics to be discussed at this year’s conference include: Carrier/Ethernet Metro, Triple-Play applications on MPLS and many more.

Inter-Op Demo

On November 1st, Isocore will hold an exclusive Inter-Op Demo. The demonstration will take place at Isocore’s office in Reston, Virginia. The Inter-Op Demo is an Isocore tradition that allows its members to show case their company’s latest technologies. Participants of the demo are given the opportunity to showcase the hottest technology in an open-lab environment. The Inter-Op Demo is available for all who are participating in the MPLS conference. For more information about this event, please see our website.
